

READER.

HE Imployments wherein Doctor Petty hath firved in Ireland, have been Many and Intricate; The Perfons concerned in his well or evil Administrations, numerous; The occasions of jealousie concerning Him, almost infinite, and confequently the various Articles Exhibited against Him, with his Anfivers and other Proceedings thereupon, must needs be tedious. You have therefore what is most material and pertiment, of every thing relating to Sir Hierom Sankey's and the fuid Doctors Proceedings, faithfully reduced into the narrowest compals confistent with perspicuity, to the end that all lovers of Truth and fusifier, may be encouraged to unravel the perplexed Knots of this Busines, and learn by this Example to understand the Weight and Reasons of other Popular jealousties and discontents hereafter, and withal the Error and Vanity of them, who hope to please Multitudes, by their most cautious and upright Endeavours.

A Brief

BRIEF of PROCEEDINGS

BETWEEN SIR

HIEROM SANKEY AND DOCTOR VVILLIAM PETTY:

On the 24th of March 1653. Sir HIEROM SANKEY after an affrighting aggravating Preface, exhibits the following Articles against Doctor WILLIAM PETTY, in a Parliamentary Affembly of above Four hundred Honourable Perfons. Viz.

- That he the faid Doctor had received Great Bribes. τ.
- That he had made a Trade of buying Debenters in wast numbers against 2. the Statute.
- That be hadgotten wast fummes of Money, and Scopes of Land by Fraud. 3.
- That he had used many foul Practifes, as Surveyour and Commissioner. 4. for Setting out Lands.
- That he and his fellow Commissioners, had placed some Debenters in better 5. places than they could claime, denying Right to others.
- That he and his fellow Commissioners had tosally disposed of the Armies 6. Security; the Debt still remaining chargable on the State.

On the 21. of April, The faid Doctor, being come (upon Summons) out of Ireland Answers the faid Articles, in the faid Affembly to the following Effect. Viz.

To the First.

THE Hat he had acted as Secretary to the Lord Lieutenant. and as Clerk of the Counicli of Ireland, in both which capacities he had faire opportunities of taking Bribes, but was never taxed therewith. That as Commiffioner for diffributing Lands, he fhunned the receiving of any Obligation, avoided all Bargaines, but by I leave, &c. to the end he might avoid the very appearance of this evil.

To the Second.

That he never bought Debenter without leave, those at dearest rates, and of Brokers

Brokers, and not till the Body of the Army was fatisfied; That none who ever fold him any, did ever complain of the leaft hardship put upon them, and that it was not possible for him fo to do.

To the Third.

That he never received Penny from the State but according to Contract, and not till he had paft all kind of Examinations. That the Work he hath done is even now worth more then the State hath paid for it, $\dot{c}c$. That he had no Land by his own affumption, but all by Orders from other Commilfioners, and the Council, in a way not repugnant to Law, and not at leffe Rates or Confiderations then others, and if there was any fingularity in the manner, twas to his one damage onely.

To the Fourth.

That for the generallity of the Actions he had done, as Commiffioner and Surveyour, he hoped he might without much vanity, glory in them; Inftancing his Meafuring twenty two Counties in thirteen Moneths, Satifiying twenty thoufand Debenters, without alteration, using firicanefic towards the greateft Perfons, \mathcal{F}_c .

To the Fifith.

That his follow Commiffioners were Perfons of Integrity and Ability, and that he would not prevent them of the Honour to clear themfelves.

Tothe Sixth.

That above three hundred thouland Acres of Land were yet undifpoled, and that what was already fet out, had fatisfied more Debt then needed to have been charged upon it.

After the above faid Defence of the faid Doctor, and when the faid Sir Hierom (being newly come from feeking Proofes out of Ireland) was urged in the Parliament to inflance particulars, with reference to the above Charge, He alledged as followeth:

- That Lieutenant Colonell Flower bringing an Order for Land, The faid Doctor asked, what he would give him to let u out to him. Flower anfwers, 100.1. The Doctor replied, 'twas an inconfiderable Reward, demanding half the Rents, at length they conclude for 100.1. per annuut, as a Rent Charge, The faid Str Hierom calling the fame, an Horrible tribe.
- 2. That Captaine Sands producing the like Order, could not have his Lands until he had given the Doctor a faire houfe in Dublin, calling the fame, an Inducement to a Bribe.
- 3. That Lieutenant Colonell Brayfeild demanding Land, was told, his Lands were beyond the Moon.
- 4. That Captain Winckworth doing the like, was told, that the Lands he defired were kept for my Lord Deputy.
- I hat the Debeniers of the Souldiers commonly amounting to five (hillings two pence, the faid Doctor would pay the five stillings, but keep the two pence for himself.

(3)

- 6. That the faid Doctor had foven theafand Acres in the Barrony of Ballebuoy more then he had either Order for, or Kight unto.
- 7. That the faid Doctor received 1100.1. for a Duplicate of Straffords Sur vey, which never cost him 20.1. the transcribing.

To which Inftances the faid Doctor intended to have faid. Vin.

To the Firlt.

That Flower was a vicious wratch and nototionfly guilty of Coveronfnelle-That he by tricks, and abuling the Lord Lieutenants kindnets had trappaned him, the faid Doctor, out of an Eftate worth 500.1, per annum, for a rent charge of 100.1, per annum only, which he never yet paid, and has been the Author of all the faid Doctors troubles, meerly to work him out of the faid 100.1, per annum; That he had been damnified by that transaction with Flower above one thouland pounds, and that without hopes or defign (from first to last) of ever gaining any thing by him, and much lefte of being builted.

To the Second.

That he had done great Acts of Kindneffe and Charity for the faid Captain Sands. That he was to give the faid Sands eight hundled acres of Land for a Houfe, and fome imaginary benefit of an Order of his, which henceded not; the faid houfe not being worth 200. I. That the reason of Sands his complaint, was his own great guilt in feeking to abufe the State, and the faid Doctor, in a moft unclufilian manner.

To the Third.

That he doth not remember any fuch expression as Landbeyond the Moon, but that if it were uted, 'twas in kindnets towards the faid Liuetenant Colonel Brayfield, That if he had not his Order ferved fo foon as he defired, 'twas becaule the faid Doctor could find nothing good enough for him. For the faid Doctor ever affected the perion of the taid Brayfield, was commanded by the Lord Lieutenant to affift him, and was defired the fame by his then Partner and Friend, Sir Thomas Herbert.

To the Fourth.

That Winkworth is a very weak miftaking Perfon, who had no more wit then to think by this device to withhold the Doctor from Queffioning him for the razure of an Order made in his own cafe.

The others he needed onely to have denyed with fome explication, Sir Hicrom having upon more mature thoughts declined them himfelf.

Sir Hierom after many threatnings of the faid Doctor to question him again, fometimes in one place, and fometimes in another, did at length upon the twelfth of July 1659. procure the following Articles Articles to be put into this prefent Parliament, without reading them (as he himfelt boafted) beyond the first Article, the which Article cunningly (uggesting a fraud of about 7000. I. got acceptance to the while, and a reference into Ireland, although the chief Witnelles (for trying all the precended frauds of the State and Army amounting to about twenty thousand pounds) as alio authentique Copies of Records be here in England, sufficient for that purpole.

The First of which Articles is,

That he the faid Doctor had as much Land for 3480.1. as comes to 10188. I.

To which the faid Doctor Answers generally, and briefly.

That it will rather appear, that he had paid 20000. 1. for 8000. Acres.

2. Article.

Whereas the faid Doctor had Licence to purchase Lands charged with more incumbrance than they amounted unto at the Act Rates. He bath taken some incumbred for leffe, some he bath gotten by collusion and paid nothing, and hath wrested others out of an Officers hand of the Army.

Answer.

The Doctor hath paid above 1 300. 1. for what many have had for four hundred pounds, and hath proceeded according to Orders, throughout the whole bufineffe.

3. Article.

Whereas Rates higher and lower then the AEt Rates were put on Lands by confent of the Perfons concerned, the faid Doctor hath taken to himfelf the benefit of the Enhancements.

Anfwer.

That the Doctor hath no benefit by the faid Enhancements, nor defires to have any, The fcope of this Article being to wind out of the States hands about 12000. 1. which belongs to them.

4. Article.

That he left out of the Souldiers Lot, the chiefest feates an incumbred, putting in others incumbred as clear, and afterwards takes those choice feats to himself.

Answer.

That the Defign of leaving out certain Lands here mentioned was good, and and orderly, & the Doctor believes that the practice of it was to to, though he never medled with it. That 'twos not his Intereft to abute the faid Defign, neither hath he gotten any thing in confequence of the Errours complained of, if any fuch be.

5. Article.

That many of the Conditions for which he had received above 8000. 1, were never performed, but that he got up his Bond and Contract concerning the [ame, [urrep:itron]?y.

Answer.

This whole Article is a große miftake of the Fact : For there were two Contracts, by one where of 17000. I. was due, whereof the Doctor never received but 10600. By the other Contract about 8000. I. was due, whereof he never received 5500. I. Moreover the defects here mentioned were neither the Doctors faults no: profit : And the uleful Overwork, he hath done deferves feveral thousand pounds in recompence. Laftly, his Bonds and Contract were kept from him above nine moneths longer then they ought to have been, out of abundant caution onely, and at length were delivered by the content and knowledge of the Councel, the Army, the Arturney General & Surveyor General, alter many debate concerning the fame.

6. Article.

That the Doctor hath received 2665. 1. three times over, and 516.1. more by a fallification, as also 421.1. and 440.1. more then in strictness be could alemand, to the concenage of the State of 5846.1.

Anfwers

What is faid to have been paid thrice, was never paid once, and if he hath received any thing which in fitictneffe of Law he might not, in Equity and Conference he ought to have received twice as much for thole very things. As for the 516.1. faid to be forged, 'tis a rafh miftake proceeding from too much defire to find faults.

7. Article.

That after all these Frauds both as to Money and Land; he so amused a certain. Committee, as they allowed him 3796.1. more for nothing.

Answer.

Upon a full reveiw of all matters relating both to the Land and Money, between the State, Army, and the taid Doctor himfelf, a Committee of moft judicious and honeft perfons allowed him 3790. 1. over and above all he then had, or now hath received, and even when the cry of the abovementioned frauds and many others, was higheft - Neither is any reason to the contrary yet detected.

8. Article.

That by delayes, feigned feruples, and derifions he wrong ht men to fell him their Debenters at under Rates, and to give him part of whatfoever he aftioned them.

Answer.

The delayes here mentioned were inevitable, the derifions a frivolous complaint, That of working men to a Composition, a very flander. The contrary of all these Allegations being true.

9. Article.

It bereas he had greater Rates for furweying then ever were given, he gave leffe to his under Surveyours then was ever taken, and yet retrenehed much of that too.

Answer.

The faid Under-Surveyours were not duly punified for their treacheries againft the faid Doctor : They were payd more than they deferved, more than they durft claim by Law, more than Arbitrators allowed them, and twice more than they will have againe for the like work, they were ufed better than they ufed others, befides, the Doctor gave them more, then the State it felf hath lince given them, nor did they ever complain, till now they were Inftigated for a fupply inftead of other declined Articles.

10. Article.

That he hath not walked by the Rules and Inftructions given him; but flighted them all.

Answer.

A General Slander; to which there needs only to be faid, that dolofus we fatur in generalibus.

11. Article.

That he with-holds his original Books and Plots, as allo the Duplicates of his fair Books contrary to an Act of Parliament.

Answer.

This is a demand never till now thought fit to be made, an abfurd and ufeleffe defire; a meer device to enable fome hereafter to abufe the State and fubject at their pleafure, and a pretended crime that the Doctor can make no benefit by.

Observations

Observations upon the whole Matter, Viz.

Ι.

That fince it appeared to the World (and never before) that he the faid Doctor was like to gain by his hazardous undertaking, he never wanted fome great Crime or other : As for example, one while the returning unprofitable Land for profitable, Another while keeping all men in the dark, Another while taking great Bribes, of 500. I. at a time, Another while faitisfying of the fame Deconters twice over; Another while fupprefling Petitions at the Council, $\dot{c}v$. None of all which are now mentioned.

2.

It is a wonder that no Magiftrate, Law, Judge nor Jury, nor no injured Souldier or Surveyour had in four years time the skill and courage to bring him to punithment.

That though he had been Queffioned, before the Council, and hath had many cafes which might have been tried before the Court, fet up for deciding Controverfies, between fouldiers and fouldiers, yet never had cheque or rebuke, for any thing he ever did, though he ever urged all men to form their jealoufies into a Charge, as willing to be Queffioned any where; yet that he fhould (before any other Remedy was tried) be brought into two feveral Parliaments to be punihed, feemes hard and needlefs.

That this charge ihould be undertaken by a perfon of little Converfation in thefe matters, One who having talked incredibly high upon his first Articles was forced to decline four, vr_{i} . That of brides, buying Debenters without licence, wrong placing Debenters, and imbezelling the Armies fecurity, leaving onely the two, that contained but general furmifes. And that when he returned out of Ireland (where he had been inftructed by feven the most diligent and fubile perfons that ever acted in fuch a bufineff ρ could inftance at his return but in feven particulars, three of which, and the greateft, viz_{i} . The faid Doctor having 7000. Actes without Order, That of Straffords Survey, and devouring the odd pence of the Souldiers Debenters, he was fain to quit upon further confluentions, leaving only a few jefts and miftakes for the Parlaments Judicature, and in his laft charge making three or four Articles of one and the time matter.

That the faid Sir Hierom fhould accufe the faid Doctor for perfivading the Council and Commiftioners to figne Orders for his fatisfaction, and for amufing the Referrers mentioned in the leventh Article, to give him 3796.1, for nothing, and yet never taxt any of them, for their negligence or ignorance in reference to the Premites, nor the fuperior Powers for making use of fuch Inftruments, and for employing the faid Doctor, the imposed worft of them all. 6. That That when the faid Do flow biboured to be typed in Ireland, before the fewho had been Winffle, of his Aflings, (writing his privile/ge as a member of Parliament for thit purpole) that he hould be hurried on a fuddain to the higheft and laft Judicaure in England. That when he would go beck into Ireland, fhould be heid in England, and endeavours ufed for his being fent back thither ignominioufly, And now he is in England, and defines to be tryed here, fhould be remanded into Ireland by an Order oily gotten, and as it were upon Sir Hierows flealing in the Articles into the Houle contrary to his own promife, without for much as having them read through, before they were referred, as himfelf related.

Out of all which, 'tis hoped no impartial Confiderer of thefe things will think it impoffible, but that the faid Doctor may be an honeft man, nor will judge him before he be heard, nor will have to little curiofity, as not to defire he may be heard; but on the contrary will think, that a man coming from fmal and unlikely beginnings to the management of many confiderable Trufts, to the favour successively of all in chief Power in his time, and to a competent Eftare, may be envied. Nor that among 2000, perfons, who envy one anothers Portions and Lotts, there may grow up an Epidemical malice, and a pannick fear of ftrange Wrongs done and intended unto them; e.pecially it being to natural in us all, to supplant those, to whom God hath given any Eminency, either in Riches, Power, or Parts, above our Selves, which (by the way) is often cupningly and improper-Iv faid concerning him, to prejudice all those unto whom he may endeayour to vindicate himfelf, or at leaft to keep Neuters, till the bottome of the whole be laid open. And laftly, it is very probable from the times of his Impeachment, the sparing him some years after the Body of his Im. ployments and Undertakings were over; the appearing of fuch a perfon as Sir Hierom Sankey in the caufe; the thifting of Articles from one nature and form to another, the vehemence of the profecution; the accusing him in Parliaments, before any Remedy was fought elfewhere; the intereft of the Paries, the emptinels of the Complaints when fcan'd; the fewnels of the mifcarriages, (though all allegations were proved,) if compared with the infinity of the occations from whence they arole; the Endeavours to have him Tryed fometimes in one place, fometimes in another, with the forbearance of others equally taxable. Truly from all these Confiderations, 'tis very probable, that fome more fecret and private intereft, is the true caufe of the Doctors tribulations. A strict Enquiry whereinto, would perhaps make much for the publick profit, and well become the Juffice and Wildome of the Parliament; that the innocent Subjects and painful Servants of this Common-wealth be not Sacrificed to private Spleen and Animolities, nor any man ruined to make good the rath Engagements of others.
